

1.

Quiz

Read the text on page 34 in TOPIC and the sentences (a–f). Then tick the correct animal(s) for each sentence. Attention: there may be more than one correct answer.

	orangutan	African rhino	polar bear	dolphin	tiger
a) This animal lives in Asia. (2)
b) This animal suffers from climate change. (2)
c) This animal lives in many different places.
d) This animal already lost big parts of its natural home. (3)
e) People hunt this animal for a part of its body.
f) Nowadays, this animal lives in two places only.

2.

Another way to say

Read these sentences from the text on page 34 in TOPIC. Parts of the sentences are in bold. What do they mean? Choose the best option (a, b or c).

- Every year we are losing thousands of species.
 - less than thousand
 - one thousand
 - several thousand
- The latest report draws a rather dark picture.
 - has many pictures
 - is negative about the future
 - is black and white
- And many more are in danger of dying out as well.
 - have already died out
 - will certainly die out
 - will maybe die out
- A century ago, they lived all over the rain forests in south-east Asia.
 - everywhere in the rain forests
 - in some parts of the rain forests
 - on top of the trees in the rain forest
- Over 100 years ago, there were approximately 80,000 on our planet.
 - around
 - exactly
 - fewer than

Listening tips

Before listening, read the instructions and the questions carefully. Try to find out:

- What are you going to hear?
- What do you have to listen for?

Listening tasks often ask you to listen for a particular type of information. This might be the general topic of a conversation, an opinion, a place, a time, a name ...

Good listeners try to find out first what type of information they are looking for.

1) What are they talking about?

You are going to listen to five speakers talk about pets.

What are the speakers saying?

Match the speakers (1–5) with the correct statement (A–F).

There is one extra statement that you will not need.

Speaker 1
Speaker 2
Speaker 3
Speaker 4
Speaker 5

A	This speaker has found a cat.
B	This speaker wants to buy a puppy.
C	This speaker is giving a pet away.
D	This speaker bought a new pet.
E	This speaker cannot have a pet.
F	This speaker wants to look after a hamster.

2) A phone call

You are going to listen to two people on the phone. While listening, complete the sentences with the missing information.

- a) Jimmy calls Mary about going to _____ .
- b) Mary wants to go on _____ .
- c) They agree to meet at _____ o'clock.
- d) Jimmy says he will wait at the _____ .